3. Reports / Old and New Business

Felix Castrodad gave an update about the Strategic Plan. MTA continues to work on public outreach and is finding out what people like and dislike about the services. MTA has a project bus that they are taking around town. Please let MTA know two weeks in advance to schedule the bus at your location.

Information about the project is given on the bus.

Frank Meeuwis asked if Nashville Next was for all of MTA or just paratransit. Felix Castrodad confirmed that it was for all of MTA.

Susan Jakoblew asked what the sample size was. Felix Castrodad said he was hoping for 10,000 or more. MTA is asking people that use the system and don't use the system. MTA looked at populations similar to Nashville like Kansas City and are looking to 25 years in the future. There are some areas where they think they are okay and other areas where they have work to do. The goal is to make a report available to the website.

Kellie McCain asked if MTA is getting good feedback from the disability community. Felix Castrodad stated that they have a little bit.

Tricia Griggs said Lynette Henderson with Vanderbilt is involved with the Red Cap Platform. They provide an online survey to help with outreach with the strategic plan.

Donna DeStefano thought it is important that everyone take advantage of the bus within our communities.

Christy Harper gave the Taxi update regarding on time performance and routing issues. They will have 25 new vehicles which will help with routing issues and pickup times. They will be able to space out pickup times better and not have people waiting. There will also be an AccessRide-certified driver at the airport at all times. The drivers are now going through a more extensive training program for 2 weeks with Mohammad.

Frank Meeuwis asked if there was a limit to how many taxis can be added. Christy Harper said they were able to add an additional 100 and were working on that.

Donna DeStefano thanked Christy Harper for her fast action. She said that Mohammad has been at the Disability Coop office. Patricia Valladares added anything that is proactive is great.

Steve Bland introduced himself and gave an MTA update. The overall issue he thought is on-time performance and the safety of people when they are stranded. MTA will continue to work to resolve these issues.

Susan Jakoblew said Lorri Mabry had a problem on a Sunday at TPAC. She had a cab reservation because it was after hours for MTA. The cab ride didn't show up, and they were standing on the curb at 11:00pm. Need to consider always having an accessible cab available on the road at all times in all areas.

Dan Dillon stated that the cab drivers have a right to refuse an MTA ride. Can anything be done to address that? Christy explained that extra trips have to go out through the entire company. The drivers are allowed to choose, but they are looking to bring on more MTA drivers.

Zeda Riggs stated that the scheduling dept. is sending Allied the trips earlier so they can be routed earlier and any problems corrected before the pick-up.

Debbie Chadwick asked what the failsafe is for when businesses are closing. There is a protection from harm concern. Zeda Riggs said AccessRide dispatch is there 24/7. Dispatch will route an AR van or a cab based upon availability.

Donna DeStefano spoke about someone she knows that is on subscription that has almost lost her job because she's been so late so many times. This is just not acceptable. Situations when people have places they need to get their livelihood depends up it, and they are stranded need to be fixed.

Zeda Riggs spoke with other agencies and negotiating trip times work best for these issues. MTA is looking to adopt this. It's going to be an adjustment period but once they get used to it, the pick-up times will improve. Negotiating trip times based on availability. For example, if someone calls 7 days in advance, they will get that pick up time. That may improve on-time performance.

Susan Jakoblew asked if there is also an issue with a re-education with the AR riders. If a rider's schedule is flexible, a rider should specify that. This will allow others who really need the service at a certain time to get to their destinations on time.

Felix Castrodad sent an email regarding the bylaws. If you haven't read them, yet please do so. We need to finish those. Felix Castrodad will re-send if needed.

Patricia Valladares asked committee members to review the bylaws by next meeting; will discuss at next meeting. Comments are due by June 19th.

Handbook Committee report given by Zeda Riggs, and she stated it is now on the MTA website.

Nominating Committee is Emily Hoskins, Dan Dillon, Debbie Chadwick and Tracy Pendergrass. If anyone knows someone that would like to be a part of the committee, please let one of them know.

The July meeting is the Annual meeting, and the elections will take place for Executive committee.

FAQ Committee is Nancy Lyles, Jeannie Johnson.

Patricia Valladares would like to share the FAQ's with drivers and riders. Frank Meeuwis asked Zeda Riggs if she had anything for FAQ's so the committee wasn't starting from scratch. Zeda Riggs said she really didn't have anything but will look and talk with agencies and the training dept. Patricia Valladares asked if anyone has anything to add that would be very helpful. Emily Hoskins said she had a slide show that she could send as long as Shannon from the CBC would be okay to share that would be a starting point.

Debbie Chadwick saw a card from a first responder that had topics that may help. She will look to find it. State of New Mexico issued it.

4. Public Comments

Jean Ivey thought it was very nice to have Steve at the meeting. CEO's are not normally in attendance. Her husband worked for MTA for 6 or 7 years. She's never driven a car and has always used transit. She was representing diabetes and dialysis patients. She explained that it's very important to go to the places where consumers are being taken to get a feel for why it's so important to arrive on time. If she arrives late to her dialysis appointment, she loses her appointment to receive dialysis. Her life depends on being on time, and that's why it's extremely important for the vans and taxi's to be on time.

Trudy Graves has continually been late for work due to the vans being late; she's almost been fired. She said that she complains but never gets the letters from MTA. She came to the meeting to formally complain. Being late is not just an inconvenience; she has to be home on time to take her diabetic shots.

Jeannie Johnson has had several scheduling issues and routing issues with MTA vans also along with cab drivers and cab pickups. Drivers are not picking up and dropping off in the correct order that make sense.
