FARE STRUCTURE REVISIONS

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What change is going into effect?

MTA is proposing a revision of its fares to include two-hour, no-cost transfers and fare reductions.

Why is this happening?

Nashville Mayor Megan Barry proposed free transfers in her July 1, 2017 Metro Budget. The budget was adopted by the Metro Council. (All proposed changes are subject to Nashville MTA Board approval.)

What is the timeline for these proposed changes?

If approved, the proposed two-hour, no-cost transfers and fare reductions would begin August 1.

What is a transfer and how do I get one?

A transfer is a ticket good for two hours to complete a trip. The two-hour transfer window would start when the customer boards the bus. Customers will need to request a transfer when boarding.

What if I've already started using a multi-ride or multi-day pass when the new fare structure begins?

There will be no refunds/exchanges on fare media purchased before August 1.

Will this affect RTA customers?

No. All proposed fare restructuring will affect MTA riders only.
